DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the retainer being a hook and molding must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-3 and 5-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by German Publication 3842340 (hereafter Kleinbohl).

Re claim 1, Kleinbohl discloses a vehicle door module for a vehicle door having a door edge comprising a hollow box section (see figure 2), a window glass module (the glass and arms for lifting the glass can be seen in figure 1) projecting from the hollow box section at a region wherein the window glass module exits the hollow box section and a cable harness (19) near the region where the window glass module exits the hollow box section.

Re claim 2, the cable harness runs from a vehicle bodywork (the door is part of the bodywork of a vehicle).

Re claim 3, a retainer (the portion of 12 at 19) which retains the cable harness in the region where the window glass module exits the hollow box section is provided.

Re claim 5, the retainer is a molding (12 can be molded).

Re claim 6, a trim is provided and the cable harness is located between the trim and the hollow box section (it is inherent to the reference that a trim would be required to cover the wiring harness).

Re claim 7, the cable harness runs behind the trim in the region where the window glass module exits the hollow box section.

Art Unit: 3612

Re claim 8, a motor and gear mechanism (3) is located between the trim and the hollow box section, and the motor and gear mechanism is powered from the cable harness.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 4 and 9-18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Skrbina et al. discloses a vehicle door. Raisch et al. discloses a vehicle wiring harness associated with a seal.
